

Artist Statement:

I submitted this diptych because I think that, in a subtle and charming way, it captures the everyday life of the hardworking Asian-American immigrants living in our very own city. Not different nor outcast, we are all a part of the same community and should continue to support and love each other equally — regardless of skin color or heritage.